The more I study, the more insatiable do I feel my genius for it to be.

~Ada Lovelace

Understand well as I may, my comprehension can only be an infinitesimal fraction of all I want to understand.

~Ada Lovelace

That brain of mine is something more than merely mortal; as time will show.

~Ada Lovelace

If you can't give me poetry, can't you give me poetical science?

~Ada Lovelace

Forget this world and all its troubles and if possible its multitudinous Charlatans-- everything in short but the Enchantress of Numbers.

~Ada Lovelace

The intellectual, the moral, the religious seem to me all naturally bound up and interlinked together in one great and harmonious whole.

~Ada Lovelace

The Analytical Engine has no pretensions whatever to originate anything. It can do whatever we know how to order it to perform.

~Ada Lovelace

One essential object is to choose that arrangement which shall tend to reduce to a minimum the time necessary for completing the calculation.

~Ada Lovelace

Thus not only the mental and the material, but the theoretical and the practical in the mathematical world, are brought into more intimate and effective connection with each other.

~Ada Lovelace

The Analytical Engine is an embodying of the science of operations, constructed with peculiar reference to abstract number as the subject of those operations.
