We're living in a time where we all got to stay woke !

~Aisha Hinds

Understanding that what it is that you're doing isn't limited to the roles and the rejection, it's bigger than that, it's about your purpose in life.

~Aisha Hinds

Study and know that we are always a student of the craft well after we've completed any course of study... and approach the work as a servant, not a star.

~Aisha Hinds

I felt validated and valued , and here was this woman [Whoopi Goldberg] inside my television screen who gave me a voice.

~Aisha Hinds

[I want to be remembered] as a small piece of the puzzle sent here to serve a bigger picture.

~Aisha Hinds

I am indebted to [my grandmothers] always for cradling me in the heart of Christ and encouraging my passion to press towards the mark of the high calling on my life, wherever that takes me.

~Aisha Hinds

An opportunity to honor the legacy of the lives drawn into the lines in my face, the broad of my nose, the dark of my eyes, the fullness of my lips, and coal in my complexion.

~Aisha Hinds

Rosa Parks was primed, she had the Civil Rights Movement behind her, she didn't just decide to sit on the bus, it was strategic.

~Aisha Hinds

[Harriet Tubman] lived such a full, complex, and irrefutably-dynamic life that all the craft in the world would be insufficient in honoring her legacy.

~Aisha Hinds

I did my homework, of course, by inhaling as much literature as was available to find, so that when it was time to shoot I could hopefully exhale [Harriet Tubman].

~Aisha Hinds

The real truth is that [Harriet Tubman] spirit is so powerful that it consumes you. I was literally reduced to basic breath and blinks while she inhabited my vessel and told her story through me.

~Aisha Hinds

Harriet Tubman is the perpetuation of a "Super Soul Sunday" every day. Learning about her and the layers of her helps you to see that the same woman who holds a gun and an axe felt feelings for a man.
