Color is very much about atmosphere and emotion and the feel of a place.

~Alex Webb

Ultimately, the reward is the process - the process of photographing and discovering and trying to understand why and what am I photographing.

~Alex Webb

The viewer is yet another eye that is part of the compact that makes a photograph what it is.

~Alex Webb

To a certain extent what I do is play with the world, but it's disciplined play.

~Alex Webb

I'm always playing along that line: adding something more, yet keeping it sort of chaos.

~Alex Webb

Most of my projects seem to start as exploratory journeys with no visible end in sight.

~Alex Webb

... the possibility of one particular photographer's pictures lying around the corner is never realized until the photographer is there. It's one of the enigmas of photography.
