The world amazed me, in that I saw it as I had when I was a child. I had forgotten the beauty and the magic and the knowingness of it and me.

~Alexander Shulgin

Psychedelic drugs don't change you - they don't change your character - unless you want to be changed. They enable change; they can't impose it.

~Alexander Shulgin

I'm called the Godfather [of Ecstasy] because I published for the first time information about its effects in man. I feel content with the title. MDMA is a beautiful drug.

~Alexander Shulgin

The potential of the psychedelic drugs to provide access to the interior universe, is, I believe, their most valuable property.

~Alexander Shulgin

It is essential that our present negative propaganda regarding psychedelic drugs be replaced with honesty and truthfulness about their effects, both good and bad.

~Alexander Shulgin

Know what [drug] you're using, decide just why you're using it, and you can have a rich experience.

~Alexander Shulgin

MDMA, it was beginning to be apparent, could be all things to all people.

~Alexander Shulgin

If I had a vision of the perfect psychedelic drug and knew its structure, I'd make it. That's why I have a laboratory out there - to make things that haven't been made before.

~Alexander Shulgin

I think when you die, you die.
