I think we're all fascinated and a little mystified by how the brain works. One of the most mysterious of the physical sciences is neurological science.

~Alexis Denisof

Sometimes time constraints bring out something cool.

~Alexis Denisof

[David Boreanaz]'s got a very, very cute little giggle.

~Alexis Denisof

Life is not just one dark moment after another.

~Alexis Denisof

In the same way that Shakespeare was writing very much for his time, he was also unearthing observations that would last for generations beyond him.

~Alexis Denisof

Anybody who believes and experiences their life and doesn't have shades of gray in it doesn't live where I live and is simply not in touch with the reality of the human condition.

~Alexis Denisof

Shakespeare is the Joss Whedon of his generation.

~Alexis Denisof

You learn a lot about a person when you work together.

~Alexis Denisof

The inherent corruption of man can often bring down the best system.

~Alexis Denisof

The American story is a story of great moments and dreadful moments.

~Alexis Denisof

Honestly, one-hour drama is the hardest format there is. I think it's harder than movies, and it's harder than half-hour comedy.

~Alexis Denisof

I think with the smaller-scale projects, the burden for success falls more squarely on the shoulders of the actors and the director and the script.

~Alexis Denisof

I think most people in the developed world would admit to carrying some sort of handheld device, whether it's a laptop or a cell phone, at all times.

~Alexis Denisof

By the time I had finished my studies at St. Paul's School, I knew I wanted to be an actor.

~Alexis Denisof

Personally, my taste is towards development of a character, as well as the resolution of a story plot. I like to find both, if I can.

~Alexis Denisof

There's nothing as satisfying, thrilling and gratifying as parenthood.

~Alexis Denisof

You give up a lot when you enter the years of parenting. It's a sacrifice.

~Alexis Denisof
