Some people are always grumbling because roses have thorns; I am thankful that thorns have roses.

~Alphonse Karr

I am thankful that thorns have roses.

~Alphonse Karr

All people have three characters, that which they exhibit, that which they have, and that which they think they have.

~Alphonse Karr

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

~Alphonse Karr

Botany is the art of insulting flowers in Greek and Latin.

~Alphonse Karr

Love is the most terrible, and also the most generous of the passions; it is the only one which includes in its dreams the happiness of someone else.

~Alphonse Karr

Every man has three characters: that which he shows, that which he has, and that which he thinks he has.

~Alphonse Karr

If we are to abolish the death penalty, I should like to see the first step taken by our friends the murderers.

~Alphonse Karr

Uncertainty is the worst of all evils until the moment when reality makes us regret uncertainty.

~Alphonse Karr

Avoid all haste; calmness is an essential ingredient of politeness.

~Alphonse Karr

The more the change, the more it is the same thing.

~Alphonse Karr

If men knew all that women think, they would be twenty times more audacious.

~Alphonse Karr

Though we have two eyes, we are supplied with but one tongue. Draw your own moral.

~Alphonse Karr

If women only knew the extent of their power!

~Alphonse Karr

Happiness is composed of misfortunes avoided.

~Alphonse Karr

Let us try to see things from their better side: You complain about seeing thorny rose bushes; Me, I rejoice and give thanks to the gods That thorns have roses.

~Alphonse Karr

Love in marriage should be the accomplishment of a beautiful dream, and not, as it too often is, the end.

~Alphonse Karr

One expresses well only the love he does not feel.

~Alphonse Karr

I gather from a lawyer that there was a rehearsal yesterday. We haven't a hope. I know the presiding judge too: I've had the misfortune to sleep with his wife. He was specially picked.

~Alphonse Karr

Friendship between two women is always a plot against another one.

~Alphonse Karr

A woman who writes commits two sins; she increases the number of books, and decreases the number of women.

~Alphonse Karr
