What journalism is really about-it's to monitor power and the centres of power.

~Amira Hass

Throwing stones is the birthright and duty of anyone subject to foreign rule. Throwing stones is an action as well as a metaphor of resistance.

~Amira Hass

In the end there is a choice. And my choice is to be against the occupation, and not only the occupation but the whole system of discrimination and dispossession.

~Amira Hass

The thing people forget when they are looking for solutions is there is nothing final in history.

~Amira Hass

According to what the IDF says to its soldiers. I don't know if this is what the IDF says to the media.

~Amira Hass

Things happen in a way that surprises. That's why I'm reluctant to predict. You cannot predict.

~Amira Hass

Hamas cannot stand free media.

~Amira Hass

I am a very conservative journalist and prefer to write about what happened, and not what will happen.

~Amira Hass

The ingredients for another Palestinian uprising are always there because as long as there is so much violence it is bound to explode.

How, I cannot tell. But people will not accept it forever.

~Amira Hass

As a Jew and a journalist I have my privileges, and if one doesn't work I use the other one.

~Amira Hass

I think these questions about what will happen are questions for activists and about the agency of people in the course of events. This is not a question for a journalist, but for activists.
