A library is the only single place you can go to learn something new, be comforted, terrified, thrilled, saddened, overjoyed, or excited all in one day. And for free.

~Amy Neftzger

I'm pretty sure that eating chocolate keeps wrinkles away because I have never seen a 10 year old with a Hershey bar and crows feet.

~Amy Neftzger

The worst kind of brokenness is the kind that you don't know you have.

~Amy Neftzger

It's 4:58 on Friday afternoon. Do you know where your margarita is?

~Amy Neftzger

I don't have to be logical. I'm a leopard. We're considered wild animals, you know.

~Amy Neftzger

Magic is always there. Sometimes it just takes an artist to find it and show the rest of us where to look.

~Amy Neftzger

All great roads are paved with uncomfortable memories.

~Amy Neftzger

Choices are powerful things. In fact, they're more powerful than most things.

~Amy Neftzger

Imperfections don't make something ugly.

~Amy Neftzger

Miracles need people as much as people need miracles.

~Amy Neftzger

That's the first step to learning: admitting what you don't know.

~Amy Neftzger

Memories are not always the best measure of things.

~Amy Neftzger

There are no miracles on Mondays.

~Amy Neftzger

It doesn't take objectivity to know what you want, and you're not objective enough to know what you need.

~Amy Neftzger

When Death laughs, no one else does

~Amy Neftzger

Without stories, we'd have even more trouble recognizing what's real.

~Amy Neftzger

Death is only as strong as you believe it to be.

~Amy Neftzger

Failure to shed tears is a failure to live life fully. And the one thing that life requires of us all is to live it. Never be embarrassed by your ability to be alive.
