I like a certain style of show, I like a certain pace, I like a rhythm, I like a lot of comedy in with my drama.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

Writing is a sad process, sitting on your ass for many, many hours, alone in a room, smelling like coffee, sadness and bitterness, and watching your youth leave.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

Life doesn't tend to fix things or wrap them up in bows.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

To me, crazy is not someone who has a creative vision and will fight for it.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

When you write for a show that's not yours, your job is to hear the voices of the characters and write as best you can for those voices.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

Every pilot I've ever written, I've fallen deeply and madly in love with. It's the only way I work.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

TV is all about speed. TV is fast and furious. It's gunslinger territory.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

These television shows that have 14 shots of somebody looking at each other with the wind blowing through their hair drive me insane.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

If we based everything in Hollywood on who was a nice guy, holy moly, we would have no movies. No actors would work. This is not an industry that is ruled by kindness and generosity.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

The whole world is out of time!

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

I don't believe in crowd funders. I don't believe the fans should be paying for their own things.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

As a writer, all you want to do is write for great actors. That's all.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

People have nannies and big cars, and they want to go to Maui for Christmas. When there are those kind of stakes involved, people get ruthless.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

The dance world was a big part of my growing up.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

It's tough to get any film made, even if you're Martin Scorsese. It's just hard to get films made.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

I think music on television is just uniformly dreadful. It is mundane, it says nothing.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

I think I would be making a mistake to actively try and just do everything completely different from 'Gilmore Girls.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

I grew up where my parents would literally shove me in the car rather than have to say hello to a neighbor.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

With a sitcom, everyday you do a run through, and people are judging you, and the scripts are being changed nightly, nightly, nightly.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

The way television works is that directors come in and out, and they're not there all the time, following every character through every scene. They're vagabonds who go from one show to another.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

No one in my writers' room can wear sweatpants.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

Well, I took ballet for many, many years, so my whole childhood really revolved around dance class. I grew up around dance; my mother was a dancer.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

If something ain't working, it ain't working. You can't stick with it.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

Dance was always part of my life because I was a dancer and my mother was a dancer, and I love the theater.

~Amy Sherman-Palladino

The thing about 'Gilmore Girls' is that it's such a specific voice, and I lived with it for so long before it got on the air. It's a very specific rhythm and a very specific banter.
