

Andrea Mitchell

Quotes

People, Bob, Philadelphia, War, Thinking, Men, Cities, World, Covering, Loyal, Race, Party, Understanding, Real, Eight, Well Known, Jobs, Said, Morning, Powerful

If you think you can do two full-time jobs, people will expect you to do three.

~Andrea Mitchell

They put me on the shift where they thought I could do the least harm, midnight to eight in the morning. Although the hours were lousy, they were perfect for an apprentice reporter.

~Andrea Mitchell

Philadelphia reflected the national turmoil over race and the Vietnam War, often exploding on my watch.

~Andrea Mitchell

[On reporters trying to cajole a smile from her husband, Alan Greenspan:] For a Federal Reserve chairman, that was a smile.

~Andrea Mitchell

Nobody is talking about the different - until you raised the issue.

~Andrea Mitchell

[Mitt] Romney looks the part and is well known around the world and has a lot of experience.

~Andrea Mitchell

[Bob] Corker was an early endorser.

~Andrea Mitchell

... there was a part of me that wanted to be liked, and despite all my years of reporting, I never quite adjusted to the role of skunk at the garden party.

~Andrea Mitchell

You've got James Comey on camera on Capitol Hill saying, - no, it is not much less of an offense than Hillary Clinton. In fact, it is far more serious. It was prosecuted.

~Andrea Mitchell

Bob Corker was not the inside man that, certainly, Senator [Jeff] Sessions was. And he doesn't telegraph what's going on. He's been much more discreet about that.

~Andrea Mitchell

You've got David Petraeus who, yes, did, you know, something for which he pleaded guilty.

~Andrea Mitchell

How does [Mitt Romney] explain all of those terrible things he said, you know, that - to the Kellyanne [Conway] point.

~Andrea Mitchell

Senator [Bob] Corker has been, first of all, discreet and loyal. He has not signaled the internal mechanisms. He's been pretty honestly saying, I wasn't a real insider in the campaign.

~Andrea Mitchell

... I still have sympathy for some of the people who've fallen from grace in Washington. The feeding frenzy can be so unforgiving, especially in this day of nonstop cable news.

~Andrea Mitchell

Washington was not just a city of marble buildings and smoke-filled rooms and power brokers, but also a town full of people who do care about each other, in good times and bad.

~Andrea Mitchell

Related Links:

- People Quotes
- Bob Quotes
- Philadelphia Quotes
- War Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Men Quotes
- Cities Quotes
- World Quotes
- Covering Quotes
- Loyal Quotes
- Race Quotes
- Party Quotes
- Understanding Quotes
- Real Quotes
- Eight Quotes
- Well Known Quotes
- Jobs Quotes
- Said Quotes
- Morning Quotes
- Powerful Quotes