

Andrew Dickson White Quotes

*Men, Country, Views, Years, Catholic, Russia, Religion, Law, Enemy, Two, Organization, Philosophy, Superstitions, Biographies, Atheist, Lasts, Reading,
Italian, May, Wall*

The cardinal doctrine of a fanatic's creed is that his enemies are the enemies of God.

~Andrew Dickson White

The establishment of Christianity . . . arrested the normal development of the physical sciences for over fifteen hundred years.

~Andrew Dickson White

I will not permit thirty men to travel four hundred miles to agitate a bag of wind.

~Andrew Dickson White

The last struggles of a great superstition are very frequently the worst.

~Andrew Dickson White

Carlyle uttered a pregnant truth when he said that the history of any country is in the biographies of the men who made it.

~Andrew Dickson White

He [Paolo Sarpi] was one of the two foremost Italian statesmen since the Middle Ages, the other being Cavour.

~Andrew Dickson White

Related Links:

- Men Quotes
- Country Quotes
- Views Quotes
- Years Quotes
- Catholic Quotes
- Russia Quotes
- Religion Quotes
- Law Quotes
- Enemy Quotes
- Two Quotes
- Organization Quotes
- Philosophy Quotes
- Superstitions Quotes
- Biographies Quotes
- Atheist Quotes
- Lasts Quotes
- Reading Quotes
- Italian Quotes
- May Quotes
- Wall Quotes