The Sound of Music was just such an honour to be in, because it was a movie that appeals to so many people, and they just loved it so much and they still love it to this day.

~Angela Cartwright

Lost in Space brings back a lot of memories for people, and I think that any time youre involved in something that has such a long-lasting appeal, you feel very blessed by that.

~Angela Cartwright

Photography has been a passion of mine since I was 15.

~Angela Cartwright

As I got older, I never considered that tons of people were watching me on television every week. I give a nod to my parents for keeping me as normal as I could be in an un-normal adult world.

~Angela Cartwright

Rejection is a big part of show business. It can be tough on anyone who doesn't have fairly good self-esteem. Especially kids, as they try to discover who they are.

~Angela Cartwright

I was never one to seek out the spotlight.

~Angela Cartwright

My shadow in my art is one way I trace who I was and where I have been. My shadow and I have been on a journey for quite a while now!

~Angela Cartwright

Photography has been a passion of mine since I was 15. After my kids were born I found myself incorporating my photography into different art endeavors and from there it just blossomed.

~Angela Cartwright

I was never one to seek out the spotlight. I am kind of a private person, so I don't miss that part of show business at all.

~Angela Cartwright

I began to write short pieces when I was living in a room too small to write a novel in.
