I want to be identified with the negro; until he gets his rights, we shall never have ours.

~Angelina Grimke

I recognize no rights but human rights - I know nothing of men's rights and women's rights.

~Angelina Grimke

Slavery always has, and always will produce insurrections wherever it exists, because it is a violation of the natural order of things.

~Angelina Grimke

Women ought to feel a peculiar sympathy in the colored man's wrong, for, like him, she has been accused of mental inferiority, and denied the privileges of a liberal education.

~Angelina Grimke

One who is a slaveholder at heart never recognizes a human being in a slave.

~Angelina Grimke

I recognize no rights but human rights.

~Angelina Grimke

We Abolition Women are turning the world upside down.

~Angelina Grimke

It is through the tongue, the pen, and the press that truth is principally propagated.

~Angelina Grimke

The nation is in a death-struggle. It must either become one vast slaveocracy of petty tyrants, or wholly the land of the free.

~Angelina Grimke

We know it matters not what we have been but this and always this: what we shall be.

~Angelina Grimke

If a law commands me to sin I will break it; if it calls me to suffer, I will let it take its course unresistingly.

~Angelina Grimke

The doctrine of blind obedience and unqualified submission to any human power, whether civil or ecclesiastical, is the doctrine of despotism.

~Angelina Grimke

I trust the time is coming, when the occupation of an instructor to children will be deemed the most honorable of human employment.

~Angelina Grimke

Thou art blind to the danger of marrying a woman who feels and acts out the principle of equal rights.

~Angelina Grimke

I am a mystery to myself.

~Angelina Grimke

There is something in the heart of man which will bend under moral suasion. There is a swift witness for truth in his bosom, which will respond to truth when it is uttered with calmness and dignity.

~Angelina Grimke

I have not placed reading before praying because I regard it more important, but because, in order to pray aright, we must understand what we are praying for.

~Angelina Grimke

So precious a talent as intellect never was given to be wrapt in a napkin and buried in the earth.

~Angelina Grimke

Human beings have rights, because they are moral beings: the rights of all men grow out of their moral nature; and as all men have the same moral nature, they have the same rights.

~Angelina Grimke

Our fathers waged a bloody conflict with England, because they were taxed without being represented. This is just what unmarried women of property are now.

~Angelina Grimke

Duty is ours and events are God's.
