

Ann Aguirre Quotes

People, Fighting, World, Moving, Heart, Eye, Promise, Hurt, Thinking, Stupid, Cutting, Fall, Beautiful, Want, Matter, Easy, Hero, Loss, Way, Hate

More than most, I know the pain of surviving.

~Ann Aguirre

Possessiveness isn't love. I'm not even sure it qualifies as an emotion.

~Ann Aguirre

I'll always want him. Until every sun goes dark in every sky, until I am nothing more than long-forgotten cosmic dust, I will want him. And even then I suspect my particles will long for his.

~Ann Aguirre

'Because I love you.' It was easy to say it this time now that I understood what it meant. Then I quoted his own words back to him. 'Not just when it's easy. All the time.'

~Ann Aguirre

Sometimes the past needed to stay buried; it was the only way you could move on. And sometimes you had to dig it up, because that too was the only way.

~Ann Aguirre

A huntress never stabbed anything she didn't want to.

~Ann Aguirre

Maybe I was just one of those people who couldn't rest easy unless things went catastrophically wrong.

~Ann Aguirre

Most people can't stomach silence; it provides too much opportunity to think about things they prefer to avoid.

~Ann Aguirre

I think people can be trusted to know what makes them unhappy. Maybe we don't always know what we want exactly, but we can usually say what we don't with a fair amount of specificity.

~Ann Aguirre

She carries chaos like an overcoat.

~Ann Aguirre

Time is fluid, so the moments where everything feels perfect pass in a wink, and those where you're on your knees in despair drag on like the death of a thousand cuts.

~Ann Aguirre

My skill didn't lie in planning battles, only in fighting them.

~Ann Aguirre

I've lost so many people. Some I left on purpose and never looked back. Some were taken from me, and I never said good-bye.

~Ann Aguirre

Don't let them see you weak.

~Ann Aguirre

Sometimes when you meet someone, there's a click. I don't believe in love at first sight but I believe in that click. Recognition.

~Ann Aguirre

I felt like the blonde in every horror movie who hears a noise in the basement and goes to investigate alone. Sometimes you smell the stupid all around you, but you step in it anyway.

~Ann Aguirre

Sometimes broken things heal crooked. The pieces didn't fit anymore.

~Ann Aguirre

You don't know what it's like to be alone until you've had someone inside your head.

~Ann Aguirre

Sometimes I miss the old me.

~Ann Aguirre

Once exposed, a secret loses all its power.

~Ann Aguirre

People try to make sense of things, and if they don't know the answers, they make them up, because for some, a wrong answer is better than none.

~Ann Aguirre

If I ever win you," he said, anger bright in his pale eyes, "it will be because you want me more. Not because he's gone. I'm nobody's second best.

~Ann Aguirre

While sight may deceive you, touch rarely does.

~Ann Aguirre

Caring too much could be dangerous; I saw that now. But the alternative was no better.

~Ann Aguirre

But courage wasn't an absence of fear; it was fighting despite the knot in your stomach.

~Ann Aguirre

Love sounded terrible if it made you so weak, you couldn't survive with out it.

~Ann Aguirre

Because it takes more courage to heal the world's hurts than to inflict them.

~Ann Aguirre

Did he die well?" No, I thought. Nobody did. They just died.

~Ann Aguirre

For love to flourish there has to be trust. Promises don't matter as much as personal choice.

~Ann Aguirre

Don't worry he tells me tenderly. It doesn't matter who you've been, who you are, or who you become. I'm with you every step of the way.

~Ann Aguirre

Beyond, the unknown lay before us once more, and another impossible task. The four of us emerged from the earth and turned our steps west, toward the last hope for Salvation.

~Ann Aguirre

A divided heart offers a strange sensation.

~Ann Aguirre

This is not a love story. It is my life, and as such, there is love, loss, war, death, and sacrifice. It's about things that needed to be done and choices made. I regret nothing.

~Ann Aguirre

I couldn't help what I'd done before I learned it was wrong. I could only do better in the future.

~Ann Aguirre

Like most, I was a mix of good and bad, anger and protectiveness, kindness and pride. But right now, I had only strangled fear and the promise of revenge.

~Ann Aguirre

I always have someplace else I'd rather be, even if I don't know where that is, yet.

~Ann Aguirre

How can you miss someone who's right beside you?

~Ann Aguirre

Stalkers lips curled into a sneer. "You won't make a move without him, huh? That's embarrassing." "No," I said softly. "It just hurts because you wish it was you.

~Ann Aguirre

Brown bird welcomes white wave. Wander no more, dear traveler.

~Ann Aguirre

We stood back-to-back, blocking and striking in harmony; sometimes it felt like his arms and legs were an extension of me. I could count on him to keep them off me from behind.

~Ann Aguirre

I think my head's a minefield strewn with triggers, and maybe if I survive each explosion, what emerges from the wreckage will be me, really, truly me.

~Ann Aguirre

He was the heat of a fire and the sweetness of the moon I'd only just met.

~Ann Aguirre

I'm not sick, Deuce. You don't know your own charm." My charm? I hadn't been aware I had any. It must be the dress, I thought.

~Ann Aguirre

Yet sometimes being a friend meant letting people do things that hurt, like putting distance between you, just because it made them happy.

~Ann Aguirre

My body was a machine, plain and simple. I worked it to stay strong; I fed it to keep it running.

~Ann Aguirre

If you don't tell me what's on your mind, I can't guess

~Ann Aguirre

You don't need to be afraid of falling // when there's someone around to catch you.

~Ann Aguirre

Lifeâ€œnever gave me a chance to be soft.

~Ann Aguirre

I'm sick of asking questions everyone else already knows the answers to.

~Ann Aguirre

I never knew I had the power to hurt him, only that he possessed the power to hurt me.

~Ann Aguirre

Men can be very stupid. We cease to value what we have until it's gone, and only then do we realize the gold we glimpsed in distant hills pales as dross compared to treasure we had in hand.

~Ann Aguirre

There's a hollow where he used to be, and it echoes with self-imposed loss.

~Ann Aguirre

It's easy to do right when everything goes right. But let everything go wrong, and see how difficult it becomes.

~Ann Aguirre

I don't like anyone knowing anything about me that I didn't choose to tell them.

~Ann Aguirre

Sometimes you find your heroes in the unlikeliest places.

~Ann Aguirre

He would bear scars because of me, as I carried them for him.

~Ann Aguirre

You ever have that feeling? Like you've known someone your whole life but you don't know them at all.

~Ann Aguirre

Most people weren't aware enough to fear the things that could really hurt them.

~Ann Aguirre

I'd never known it was possible to love as he didâ€” with complete devotion yet devoid of promises.

~Ann Aguirre

He has to take me as I am, broken bits and all.

~Ann Aguirre

People stay together and stay true only as long as they both want to. And all the promises in the world don't change the length of time.

Nothing comes with a guarantee.

~Ann Aguirre

We find heroes, not on battlefields, but in hospitals that tend the injured. Sometimes I think it's easier to fight than it is to heal.

~Ann Aguirre

Just . . . love me, and let tomorrow look after itself.

~Ann Aguirre

Men always want to be remembered whereas women realize that requires being dead.

~Ann Aguirre

We're bound by chains of love, but they don't weigh us down. Instead, they allow us to be bigger and better than we are.

~Ann Aguirre

My heart should be breaking, too, but there comes a point when you're so inured to loss that you no longer feel the lash.

~Ann Aguirre

I wanted proof, not promises.

~Ann Aguirre

Love can make us do dreadful things.

~Ann Aguirre

There are quiet ways to die where the body just doesn't notice that the heart is gone.

~Ann Aguirre

I'm as forgiving as the wall you hit at two hundred kilometers an hour.

~Ann Aguirre

There's a reason I hate jigsaw puzzles. I don't have the patience to find all the border pieces, especially when they're all the same shade of gray.

~Ann Aguirre

We're broken in complementary ways, thus rendering our damage comprehensible to each other.

~Ann Aguirre

After people have gone, you forget their faults, and you recall the ideal more than the person.

~Ann Aguirre

Survival feels like cowardice.

~Ann Aguirre

Dying isn't like living; it requires no effort at all.

~Ann Aguirre

His reply offers infinite solace in a single word. Always.

~Ann Aguirre

I'm Sirantha Jax, and I have had enough.

~Ann Aguirre

Here in the enclave, one didn't prosper by demonstrating too much independent thought.

~Ann Aguirre

I imagine the ones we've lost as ghosts who prowl about the edges of the light, waiting for us to join them. Sometimes that's terrifying, and sometimes it's reassuring, a promise of homecoming.

~Ann Aguirre

He'd said the sun could burn me. It certainly looked angry enough, all orange and glowing mad.

~Ann Aguirre

Are you afraid of falling, baby? No, I'm afraid of landing. [He's laughing, and I'm smiling.] Stupid idiot smile, don't you know what comes next?

~Ann Aguirre

I never belonged anywhere until I met you.

~Ann Aguirre

Sometimes it felt as if all happiness came at a price. You could never, ever, have perfection. Life gave you beauty so you could bear the pain.

~Ann Aguirre

His lashes, fluttered like butterfly wings. "I could've made you happy, dove." "You did," I whispered

~Ann Aguirre

With a polite smile, I decided she was insane.

~Ann Aguirre

Not just when its easy. All the time.

~Ann Aguirre

For peace to take hold, one person must first stop fighting.

~Ann Aguirre

With my partner beside me, I fear nothing, not even death.

~Ann Aguirre

I so enjoy it when people assume I'm stupid." "Not that, just very focused on killing.

~Ann Aguirre

If so, I couldn't imagine how the opposite gender managed to get out of bed in the morning. They might be lovely to look at, but clear thinking wasn't their strong point.

~Ann Aguirre

My heart raced. He needs you, I thought. Don't let him down. I couldn't remember ever being so happy... or so scared.

~Ann Aguirre

What was the good of having such a fine home if you weren't willing to fight for it?

~Ann Aguirre

In the enclave, the strong and the physically perfect survived, but if you were strong, you protected the weak until they had an opportunity to grow into their own power.

~Ann Aguirre

People grew lazy. They knew too many blessings, and so lost the ability to appreciate what they had

~Ann Aguirre

Beautiful. And ugly. The world is always both.

~Ann Aguirre

Every army has a beginning, no matter how humble.

~Ann Aguirre

But it was like a dance across a field strewn with razors, and I bled with every step I took.

~Ann Aguirre

But wishes were empty thoughts, cast down a dark hole. They didn't come true unless you worked for them. I'd learned that about the world, if nothing more.

~Ann Aguirre

He's worth fighting for, but I won't change who I am for any man. No more than he should alter himself to suit me.

~Ann Aguirre

He went in, lean and deadly, and ended the creature with a lightning-fast spike of his blade. It shrieked, likely altering the rest. The death call carried like a mournful song.

~Ann Aguirre

Related Links:

- People Quotes
- Fighting Quotes
- World Quotes
- Moving Quotes
- Heart Quotes
- Eye Quotes
- Promise Quotes
- Hurt Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Stupid Quotes
- Cutting Quotes
- Fall Quotes
- Beautiful Quotes
- Want Quotes
- Matter Quotes
- Easy Quotes
- Hero Quotes
- Loss Quotes
- Way Quotes
- Hate Quotes