Black is not sad. Bright colours are what depress me. They're so... empty. Black is poetic. How do you imagine a poet? In a bright yellow jacket? Probably not.

~Ann Demeulemeester

Those that think my clothes are androgynous also still believe that women should look like Barbie dolls. That's precisely the problem, the deep-rooted assumptions about what is feminine.

~Ann Demeulemeester

Fashion has a right to exist, because it permits the people to define themselves over and over again.

~Ann Demeulemeester

I just wait because I think people will find me. And I'm not the kind of person who will knock on somebody's door. I wait. If they're good for me, they will come towards me.

~Ann Demeulemeester

I want to put a soul in a garment. I don't want my clothes to be perfect, because human beings are not perfect.

~Ann Demeulemeester

Jewelry is something that has to do with emotion. That aspect of jewelry really interests me.

~Ann Demeulemeester

For me black is not dark, it's poetic. I don't think of gothic I think of classic - it's a big difference.

~Ann Demeulemeester

A new time is coming both for my personal life, and the brand Ann Demeulemeester. I feel it's time to separate our paths.

~Ann Demeulemeester

Black is not sad... Black is poetic.

~Ann Demeulemeester

Who could imagine a poet wearing anything other than black?

~Ann Demeulemeester

Good fashion for me is like rock & n' roll - there's always a little rebellion in it.

~Ann Demeulemeester

Fashion has a reason to be, because in fashion you can find new kinds of expression about human beings. It's my way to communicate.

~Ann Demeulemeester

I'd like to cut an attitude into clothes.

~Ann Demeulemeester

I work for men that I would love to meet, somebody who I could fall in love with, someone who intrigues me.

~Ann Demeulemeester

Creating is a lonely thing in a lot of ways.

~Ann Demeulemeester

I never leave anything behind. It's like a history, a chain, a line of life, you just have to move and make new steps, and keep it evolving - but my soul is my soul.
