The author of haiku should be absent, and only the haiku present.

~Anne Bancroft

Life is here only to be lived so that we can, through life, earn the right to death, which to me is paradise. Whatever it is that will bring me the reward of paradise, I'll do the best I can.

~Anne Bancroft

Girls should go on thinking that there is a world out there and that it is theirs for the taking.

~Anne Bancroft

I think we all strive to push ourselves, to overcome our struggles. And when we do, we get to know ourselves better.

~Anne Bancroft

I'm lucky I had some teachers who saw something in me.

~Anne Bancroft

The greatest way to get most husbands to eliminate la celulitis do one thing is to suggest that perhaps they're also old to do it.

~Anne Bancroft

The things we overcome in life really become our strengths.

~Anne Bancroft

I had no doubts I could go to the pole. I may not be as strong, but I make up for physical strength in other areas, like steadiness and not panicking under stress.

~Anne Bancroft

I was at a point where I was ready to say I am what I am because of what I am and if you like me I'm grateful, and if you don't, what am I going to do about it?

~Anne Bancroft

I do not think about being beautiful. What I devote most of my time to is being healthy

~Anne Bancroft

So I think you have to marry for the right reasons, and marry the right person.

~Anne Bancroft

The aim of Zen training is to attain the state of consciousness which occurs when the individual ego is emptied of itself and becomes identified with the infinite reality of all things.

~Anne Bancroft

Slowing down reminds you that the journey is supposed to be fun.

~Anne Bancroft

It's really important that, as women, we tell our stories. That is what helps seed our imaginations.

~Anne Bancroft

... family and friends aren't always ready to make the journey when you are, and you just have to keep plowing along whether they have confidence in you or not. That can be very lonely.

~Anne Bancroft

Skydiving is something I've never done! And I am very excited to take the leap with a community of like-minded courageous women.

~Anne Bancroft

Zen is not interested in high-flown statements; it wants its pupil to bite his apple and not discuss it.

~Anne Bancroft

Getting through high school and college was one of my greatest achievements.

~Anne Bancroft

To push behind the dog sled and run in front of the dog sled. That was always an interesting job.
