I'd like to give you my heart, but since that might be inconvenient, I've brought you someone else's.

~Annette Curtis Klause

The Law is supposed to keep us safe and strong and able to birth healthy children, yet the Law wants us to tear each other apart to find a leader. The Law's a bunch of hypocrisy.

~Annette Curtis Klause

I will howl for you, human boy (...). I will hunt you in my girl skin but I'll celebrate as wolf.

~Annette Curtis Klause

I had the taste of blood and chocolate in my mouth, one as hated as the other.

~Annette Curtis Klause

Life is an illusion that last too little.

~Annette Curtis Klause

I mean, how would anyone learn anything if they weren't curious? How would scientists make discoveries? -- We all have the right to be different, don't we?

~Annette Curtis Klause

what red lips you have," he said in her ear. Did she dare say it? "All the better to kiss you with, my dear," she replied. And then their lips met.

~Annette Curtis Klause

Soon the cold would force them inside, so they clutched at lost summer.

~Annette Curtis Klause

Three cheers for Sheriff Wilson. - Bucky Dideron

~Annette Curtis Klause

I want to lay my kill at your feet.

~Annette Curtis Klause

Believe this," he whispered, and kissed her with the sharp, sleek kiss, the silver kiss, so swift and true, and razor sharp, and her warmth was flowing into him.

~Annette Curtis Klause

In his wolf-skin he was as strong as any of them, but he was a gentle person in many ways. He'd feel so bad about failing he'd probably step aside for someone else without a fight.
