

Anthea Turner

Quotes

People, Home, Thinking, Running, Divorce, Jobs, School, Moveable Feast, One Day, Events, Eye, Age, Refrigerators, Party, Cents, Should, Use, Clothes, Taxes, Country

The first rule of management is delegation. Don't try and do everything yourself because you can't.

~Anthea Turner

Whether it's cushions you only use outside in the summer, or blankets that only come out in the winter, you've always got to think of where to store them.

~Anthea Turner

If you are a housewife, take pride in that.

~Anthea Turner

Rearranging furniture, adding some candles, or making even small tweaks can really make the difference.

~Anthea Turner

People who earn reasonable amounts are being turned into the anti-Christ. I think 45 per cent tax is a colossal amount to take off somebody, and it is taking away the incentive to earn.

~Anthea Turner

I grew up in a world before people had credit cards. There were no magic cards - it was all about budgeting.

~Anthea Turner

Run a home like you would a small business and treat it with the same seriousness.

~Anthea Turner

A proper family diary with everyone's events and parties in it really helps organise the household.

~Anthea Turner

If your fridge is full this Christmas, use nature's refrigerator - your car!

~Anthea Turner

A lot of people live in a property that will one day be part of their pension, and that is true for me too. I have an investment I can sell with ease.

~Anthea Turner

Unless you completely understand the investment world, do not mess around with it. It is not something I would go anywhere near.

~Anthea Turner

Why do we consider that just because people have more money, they do not deserve it? It is totally wrong. They deserve everything they have earned.

~Anthea Turner

I do not think we should tax people to a point where they are looking for tax loopholes and getting their money out of the country.

~Anthea Turner

We should be encouraging people to earn a lot of money. I do not know one wealthy person who does not spend money - and most of them employ other people.

~Anthea Turner

Maybe, instead of paying so much in tax, the very rich could be incentivised to help their local community and young people who do not have a home.

~Anthea Turner

I am now at the age where I can withdraw a 25 per cent tax-free lump sum. I do not put in a set amount because my earnings are a moveable feast.

~Anthea Turner

Divorce is the biggest drain, outside of school fees, and nobody wins. People think it is always in the woman's favour, but it is not necessarily.

~Anthea Turner

I have always liked clothes - throughout my life, my saving grace has been my own vanity.

~Anthea Turner

It's cool to have a well run, comfortable and inviting home.

~Anthea Turner

There's no getting away from it: you have to clean.

~Anthea Turner

I have made six big home moves in my life and I have never lost money on one I have lived in.

~Anthea Turner

The late 1990s were good to me. I was doing the Lottery, GMTV and I had a good contract with ITV. But I was working so hard, I never had time to celebrate. I never thought I was lucky.

~Anthea Turner

Of course, we all have to be taxed, but once you start to earn more than Â£150,000, and start paying 45 per cent tax, you are penalised. It is like a witch hunt.

~Anthea Turner

Those who earn money know best how to spend it.

~Anthea Turner

Related Links:

- People Quotes
- Home Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Running Quotes
- Divorce Quotes
- Jobs Quotes
- School Quotes
- Moveable Feast Quotes
- One Day Quotes
- Events Quotes
- Eye Quotes
- Age Quotes
- Refrigerators Quotes
- Party Quotes
- Cents Quotes
- Should Quotes
- Use Quotes
- Clothes Quotes
- Taxes Quotes
- Country Quotes