We are not at war with Egypt. We are in an armed conflict.

~Anthony Eden

If you've broken the eggs, you should make the omelette.

~Anthony Eden

I am one of a rare breed of true politicians who definitely say what they may or may not mean with absolute certainty.

~Anthony Eden

You may gain temporary appeasement by a policy of concession to violence, but you do not gain lasting peace that way.

~Anthony Eden

The more the planners, the worse the plans.

~Anthony Eden

Nothing is more destructive of human dignity than a rule which imposes a mute and blind obedience.

~Anthony Eden

Every succeeding scientific discovery makes greater nonsense of old-time conceptions of sovereignty.

~Anthony Eden

Anthony's father was a mad baronet and his mother a very beautiful woman. That's Anthony-half mad baronet, half beautiful woman.

~Anthony Eden

Man should be master of his environment, not its slave. That is what freedom means.

~Anthony Eden

Everyone is always in favour of general economy and particular expenditure.

~Anthony Eden

We cannot agree that an act of plunder which threatens the livelihood of many nations should be allowed to succeed.

~Anthony Eden

Slowly and painfully man is learning that he must do unto others what he would have them do to him.

~Anthony Eden

Corruption never has been compulsory.

~Anthony Eden

Long experience has told me that to be criticized is not always to be wrong.

~Anthony Eden

We best avoid wars by taking even physical action to stop small ones.

~Anthony Eden

It is a common happening that those in power, as their tenure of office continues, find themselves less and less able to contemplate relinquishing it.

~Anthony Eden

The worst of being sacked is you can never find your car.

~Anthony Eden

We have many times led Europe in the fight for freedom. It would be an ignoble end to our long history if we tamely accepted to perish by degrees.

~Anthony Eden

All prejudices are equally fatal to good government.

~Anthony Eden

Drift is the demon of democracy.

~Anthony Eden

Responding to the question "If Mr. Stalin dies, what will be the effect on international affairs?" That is a good question for you to ask, not a wise question for me to answer.
