It's everyone's destiny to be glooped at some point in their life.

~Anthony Head

I'm fortunate because people can't put a label on me, which I embrace wholeheartedly.

~Anthony Head

I've been to Australia a couple of times, but never to the north or the centre. I would love to see Ayers Rock.

~Anthony Head

We all sing about the things we're thinking; musicals are about expressing those emotions that you can't talk about. It works a real treat.

~Anthony Head

People don't seem to be able to pigeonhole me yet, which is great.

~Anthony Head

Comic-Con is a bizarre world. It's wonderful. It's nice, feeling the love. Everywhere you walk, you feel the love.

~Anthony Head

You know, one of the classics when somebody invents something, you go why the hell didn't I think of that.

~Anthony Head

I had to groan a bit on the couch when my brow was mopped - as it is when you've been shot across the chest.

~Anthony Head

I had my trousers on at all times.

~Anthony Head

When I was filming 'Buffy the Vampire Slayer' in America, for a couple of weeks beforehand we would always fit in a family holiday in California.

~Anthony Head

I've always resisted the idea of becoming a David Hasselhoff, and I hope I'm still resisting it.

~Anthony Head

Somerset has a wonderful wildness about it - it hasn't been tamed. This is farming country, and there's a realness here - I love it.

~Anthony Head

And to get that much talent in the show and to keep it constant and consistent I think is a remarkable feat.

~Anthony Head

Actors are always trying to cry and people are actually trying not to cry.
