It is only through my daughter that I have come to realise that a life without femininity - devoid of mystery, emotion, gentleness and the unerring power of a woman's love - is no life at all.

~Antonella Gambotto-Burke

For years, I had used these fractured men to justify my cynicism and workaholism, and the grief, insomnia and casual anorexia were no longer of any interest to me.

~Antonella Gambotto-Burke

Language shapes consciousness and from consciousness, our world is shaped.
