Do not for a moment suppose that you must make yourself better, or prepare your heart for a worthy reception of Christ, but come at once - come as you are.

~Archibald Alexander

No one was ever saved because his sins were small; no one was ever rejected on account of the greatness of his sins. Where sin abounded, grace shall much more abound.

~Archibald Alexander

Nature never makes any blunders, when she makes a fool she means it.

~Archibald Alexander

All my theology is reduced to this narrow compass - "Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners."

~Archibald Alexander

God is not glorified in any transaction upon earth so much as in the conversion of a sinner.

~Archibald Alexander

Men are more accountable for their motives, than for anything else; and primarily, morality consists in the motives, that is in the affections.

~Archibald Alexander

If you were not a sinful, polluted, helpless, and miserable creature, this Savior would not be suited to you, and you would not be comprehended in his gracious invitations to the children of men.

~Archibald Alexander

Virtue consists in doing our duty in the several relations we sustain, in respect to ourselves, to our fellowmen, and to God, as known from reason, conscience, and revelation.

~Archibald Alexander

Now, my friend, I beg you to consider that this blindness and unyielding hardness is the very core of your iniquity, and to be convinced that you are thus blind and stupid is true conviction of sin.
