

Arne Glimcher

Quotes

Art, Selling, War, People, Thinking, Paid, Italian, Auctions, Psychology, Men, Renewal, School, Together, Tools, Summer, Things Happen, Beautiful, 20th Century, Dignity, Jewels

Your life moves in patterns toward things, and things that we achieve finally are part of this mosaic. I just think that we create our own fate.

~Arne Glimcher

People see owning a gallery as a way to get rich. I never thought that I could get rich in the art world. I wanted a life in art. I wanted to live with artists. I wanted to make beautiful shows.

~Arne Glimcher

Art is a tool by which society extends its perception.

~Arne Glimcher

I don't believe in selling art by transparencies. Art is a firsthand experience.

~Arne Glimcher

I think very often the price paid for a work is the trophy itself.

~Arne Glimcher

No one's ever called me anything but 'Arne.'

~Arne Glimcher

I've been told I'm a good midcareer manager.

~Arne Glimcher

The most wonderful time to be in the art world was in the sixties, because it wasn't a business - there was no business of doing art.

~Arne Glimcher

I've always been in love with the movies. They're the dreams of the 20th Century.

~Arne Glimcher

It's possible to have more than one interest. I've been a painter and did summer stock.

~Arne Glimcher

I was an actor as a kid in Boston. Then I went to art school with Brice Marden, the Massachusetts College of Art. So the hybrid of being an actor and artist is a director.

~Arne Glimcher

I like the idea of a love story between men. There is a great affection between men, which exists much more in ethnic groups: Latin, Italian, Jewish.

~Arne Glimcher

Fairs are beneath the dignity of art. To stand there in a booth and hawk your wares - it is just not how you sell art.

~Arne Glimcher

Everything happens through relationships.

~Arne Glimcher

Film and art are close together.

~Arne Glimcher

Elvis Presley's music never meant anything to me. Mambo was the music I loved - it spoke to me.

~Arne Glimcher

There is more to representing art than selling art. The life of the gallery is dependent on the renewal and refreshment of its artists and dealers. When that stops happening, it's the end.

~Arne Glimcher

When Robert Benton was doing the movie 'In the Still of the Night,' I'd choreographed the auction scene and supplied the paintings and had a bit part - I was bidding against Meryl Streep.

~Arne Glimcher

Related Links:

- Art Quotes
- Selling Quotes
- War Quotes
- People Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Paid Quotes
- Italian Quotes
- Auctions Quotes
- Psychology Quotes
- Men Quotes
- Renewal Quotes
- School Quotes
- Together Quotes
- Tools Quotes
- Summer Quotes
- Things Happen Quotes
- Beautiful Quotes
- 20th Century Quotes
- Dignity Quotes
- Jewels Quotes