The four stages of man are infancy, childhood, adolescence, and obsolescence.

~Art Linkletter

Yes, I backed the hula hoop. And I had a lot of other people come to me with ideas that turned out well

~Art Linkletter

Sometimes I'm asked by kids why I condemn marijuana when I haven't tried it. The greatest obstetricians in the world have never been pregnant.

~Art Linkletter

Kids do say the darndest things

~Art Linkletter

Children have an unerring instinct for knowing when they are being patronized. They go immediately on the defensive against head-patting adults who treat them like strange beings.

~Art Linkletter

No one can keep from aging, but there is no need to grow old.

~Art Linkletter

I stand fearlessly for small dogs, the American Flag, motherhood and the Bible. That's why people love me.

~Art Linkletter

If anything is worth trying at all, it's worth trying at least 10 times.

~Art Linkletter

If you don't go far enough back in memory or far enough ahead in hope, your future will be impoverished.

~Art Linkletter

I've learned it's always better to have a small percentage of a big success, than a hundred percent of nothing.

~Art Linkletter

Diplomacy - the art of jumping into trouble without making a splash.

~Art Linkletter

Being alive at 87 is quite an accomplishment if you're curious, interested, seeing the fun out of life, doing things, having a purpose.

~Art Linkletter

I eat a lowfat diet, think positively, get exercise every day.

~Art Linkletter

I grew up poor. I never had any money. I was a hobo, you know, ride the freights

~Art Linkletter

My age now, like my age 20 years ago, marks the year in which I was born. That's all.

~Art Linkletter

Troubadours travelled from town to town. They didn't really sing too good, which is the main reason they kept going.

~Art Linkletter

In the Top 40, half the songs are secret messages to the teen world to drop out, turn on, and groove with the chemicals and light shows at discotheques.

~Art Linkletter

Posterity is the patriotic name for grandchildren.

~Art Linkletter

People find gold in fields, veins, river beds, and pockets. Whichever, it takes work to get it out.

~Art Linkletter

The depths of the Depression. You didn't ask what the job was, what the pay was, you didn't ask about stock options, or - you said yes

~Art Linkletter

A finished product is one that has already seen its better days.

~Art Linkletter

One of the wonderful things about going to a small college is you can get into everything.

~Art Linkletter

Committees are to get everybody together and homogenize their thinking.

~Art Linkletter

Radio was so important to everybody back then; there was no TV. Columbia Square was the epitome of radio. Everything was modern. It was beautiful.
