For eleven months and maybe about twenty days each year, we concentrate upon the shortcomings of others, but for a few days at the turn of the New Year we look at our own. It is a good habit.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

I believe in an open mind, but not so open that your brains fall out.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

Free nations with different histories, economies and a vast amount of stubborn pride will never achieve complete agreement, even when they desire the same objectives.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

All nations are more tolerant of their own mistakes and weaknesses than of the mistakes and weaknesses of others.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

We [journalists] tell the public which way the cat is jumping. The public will take care of the cat.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

Any coalition has its troubles, as every married man knows.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

The United States can tell you all about what's wrong with the British, to say nothing of the Russians.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

Speakers are not supposed to waste time on platitudes, but the capacity of this generation for ignoring the obvious and concentrating on the negative and the obscure is immense.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

I look askance at any movement which assists in making the peacemaker among nations merely a national warrior.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

The statesmen still say that we should not interfere in the internal affairs of other nations and yet it is not possible any longer not to interfere, even when we do not mean to do so.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

Obviously, a man's judgement cannot be better than the information on which he bases it

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

Along with responsible newspapers we must have responsible readers.

~Arthur Hays Sulzberger

Freedom cannot be trifled with. You cannot surrender it for security unless in a state of war, and then you must guard carefully the methods of so doing.
