Those who have suffered, who have known poverty or oppression, are generally the most prone to kindness. Perhaps it is well to endure some misery if only to learn this lesson.

~Arthur Lynch

The only atheism is the denial of truth.

~Arthur Lynch

A disbelief in God does not result in a belief in nothing; disbelief in God usually results in a belief in anything.

~Arthur Lynch

Some people would be discontented in Paradise, others ... are cheerful in a graveyard.

~Arthur Lynch

Life is magical. There is something wonderful in being alive, in having within one's self all sorts of possibilities.

~Arthur Lynch

So this is happiness, that journeyman.

~Arthur Lynch

We must rejoice when love is great, and pardon its excess, for love is the staff of life, and life without love is life in vain.

~Arthur Lynch

Pessimism is carefully cultivated in some intellectual circles, as if it were a precious plant that the human race could not afford to lose.

~Arthur Lynch

Vanity is easily forgiven, for we are all vain, and even as we laugh at the weakness of others we feel that their vanity has touched the responding chord of our own.

~Arthur Lynch

There are tides of justice surging to the unknown shores of right; Stars of truth that seek a setting in the dark, untutored night.

~Arthur Lynch

Tact is not a small thing; in the battle of life it is more powerful than a bludgeon.

~Arthur Lynch

Compromise cannot be allowed in cases where the exact truth is ascertainable.

~Arthur Lynch

Optimism will grow like a flower if the soil be properly prepared.
