I found Rome a city of bricks and left it a city of marble.

~Augustus

If you want rainbow, you have to deal with the rain.

~Augustus

We write our names in the sand: and then the waves roll in and wash them away.

~Augustus

Have I played the part well? Then applaud as I exit.

~Augustus

If we could survive without a wife, citizens of Rome, all of us would do without that nuisance.

~Augustus

Practice, the master of all things.

~Augustus

Young men, listen to an old man to whom old men listened when he was young.

~Augustus

The greatest impediments to changes in our traditional roles seem to lie not in the visible world of conscious intent, but in the murky realm of the unconscious mind.

~Augustus

The tales of our exploits will survive as long as the human voice itself.

~Augustus

What is done well is done quickly enough.

~Augustus

Behold them, conquerors of the world, the toga-clad race of Romans!

~Augustus

Quintilius Varus, Give me back my legions!

~Augustus
