I don't have dreams. How can I say it? I myself am a dream.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

When I lost my way, and When the road was too long, I was muttering to myself. Life is just that way.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

No matter how far apart we are, don't forget that we're still under the same sky, both traveling to the place we once dreamed of.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I don't know my future. I don't know about tomorrow. I can just control for today or present, right now. I don't want to think about future too much, because present is most important for me.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I guess the very first thing is to own your true self, and that includes achieving the point of not lying to others; the first step should be not lying to yourself.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Slowly, I've come to realize That I cannot heal my past And that fearing the unavoidable future Is pointless

~Ayumi Hamasaki

The way I work, typically, I do everything at the very last minute. Even if I was given two months, I'd do it in the last three days

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I feel most miserable When I can't step "step up to the plate" You know? People often say Regret from doing it is better than regret for not doing it

~Ayumi Hamasaki

If you are afraid of changes Watch from a distance Whether or not I might do something If you're going to talk about me behind my back It is what it is.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I don't think you should meet the people you most admire. I don't want reality to interfere with my image.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

If there are rules and regulations, I can't help it, I want to break them.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

If you'd listen, even for a little while I'd be pleased Remember, once more we were born into this world crying. Your dreams and hopes for tomorrow are all in this world.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I'd heard a lot of Asian people were rooting for me, but I had no idea. I was stunned. They were... impassioned, especially compared to Japan. I couldn't even have anticipated that kind of welcome

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I have trouble voicing my thoughts... I can't communicate very well that way.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Remember, once more how our world should be. And please, don't forget, please, please don't forget.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Surely, no one hoped for so many things. Hold the flowers close to your heart; they may someday bloom.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

If I write when I'm low, it will be a dark song, but I don't care. I want to be honest with myself at all times.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

What if everyone goes on the endless road
Sooner or later Over the clouds to the sky
Be sure to wait for me. And then, we will talk away
About our countless memories.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Of course, my motto is still, 'Work is work, private is private.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

If you were alone and suddenly became blind, and even so you keep walking forward.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

The lovers, appearing happy, walk, holding hands. Though it appears everything is perfect, only they know the truth.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

In the beginning, I was searching for myself in my music. My music was for me. I didn't have the mental room to be conscious of the listener; I wrote to save myself.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I always like whatever I did most recently. It's the closest to who I am at the moment.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Beginnings come at random but endings always have a reason

~Ayumi Hamasaki

~Ayumi Hamasaki

It was not coincidental that we chose what's left If the universe has a will I think we are part of it Tender and precious How many times have I searched for something Found and lost it Since then?

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Even in my age now, I'm the same as before and just as fearful I only learn how to pretend to be strong

~Ayumi Hamasaki

I was forgiven by forgiving many things Including my long-ago childhood I was healed, but I intended [to] heal I've just noticed, the way I was saved by love Though I tried to keep love away.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

A woman could be having fun
A woman could be like a nun
In order to survive
We cannot be kind
Until we are hurt

~Ayumi Hamasaki

In a city [world] as dirty as this,
You gather up, save, and show me
Purely beautiful things.

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Certainly everyone, in order to protect love,
Certainly wishes to believe in something

~Ayumi Hamasaki

Though my heart is filled with feelings
I want to convey
You see, I can't express them in words
If I had not met you
I wouldn't even have such an embarrassing pain

~Ayumi Hamasaki
