A cartoonist's style is created by weaknesses and personal restrictions as much as strengths.

~Barry Blitt

I'm not a good businessman and I don't promote myself particularly well. It's best I don't talk to anybody lest I alienate myself.

~Barry Blitt

I'm an adequatist! I would be happy with something adequate. Perfection's out of the question.

~Barry Blitt

If you can learn to convey what you express in the first rough sketch, you're really saying what you need to say in that.

~Barry Blitt

I don't know what I was thinking when I was starting out. I was hoping I'd get paid to draw realistic pictures of hockey players. I still hold that hope alive.

~Barry Blitt

I've been thinking of trying to de-caricaturize Donald Trump. I thought it would be fun to try and, since he's already a caricature, to make him normal looking.

~Barry Blitt

The dread was built into the 2016 election - a little spoonful of dread.

~Barry Blitt

All my drawings always sort of looked funny even if I was trying to do serious stuff and express myself about grim situations. It was always cartoony.
