I don't divide the world into the weak and the strong, or the successes and failures...I divide the world into the learners and non-learners.

~Benjamin Barber

Jefferson thought schools would produce free men: we prove him right by putting dropouts in jail.

~Benjamin Barber

The question to ask is not whether you are a success or a failure, but whether you are a learner or a nonlearner.

~Benjamin Barber

Having created the conditions that make markets possible, democracy must do all the things that markets undo or cannot do.

~Benjamin Barber

Where once the student was taught that the unexamined life was not worth living, he is now taught that the profitably lived life is not worth examining.

~Benjamin Barber

Injuries too well remembered cannot heal.

~Benjamin Barber

I divide the world into learners and non-learners.
