The conductor of an orchestra doesn't make a sound. He depends, for his power, on his ability to make other people powerful.

~Benjamin Zander

I have a definition of success. For me it's very simple. It's not about wealth and fame and power. It's about how many shining eyes I have around me.

~Benjamin Zander

Throw yourself into life as someone who makes a difference, accepting that you may not understand how or why.

~Benjamin Zander

When you make a mistake, throw your hands in the air and say "How fascinating!"

~Benjamin Zander

In the measurement world, we set a goal and strive to achieve it. In the universe of possibility, we set the context and let life unfold.

~Benjamin Zander

I'm so sorry for you; your lives have been so easy. You can't play great music unless your heart's been broken.

~Benjamin Zander

The job of the leader is to speak to the possibility.

~Benjamin Zander

The major difference between the 'best' and the 'average' is that the 'best' get as much pleasure from practice as performance.

~Benjamin Zander

It's not a question of how much power you can hoard for yourself, but how much you can give away.

~Benjamin Zander

Look at their eyes. If their eyes are shining, you know you're doing it.

~Benjamin Zander

Everybody loves classical music they just don't know about it yet.

~Benjamin Zander

My job is to awaken possibility in other people.

~Benjamin Zander

South Africa is a country built on possibility. Possibility lies in making a difference and creating value from a situation - without denying that certain issues exist.

~Benjamin Zander

Who am I being that my players' eyes are not shining?

~Benjamin Zander

I make myself a relentless architect of the possibilities of human beings.

~Benjamin Zander

I have a definition of success.

~Benjamin Zander

Life is revealed as a place to contribute and we as contributors. Not because we have done a measurable amount of good, but because that is the story we tell.

~Benjamin Zander

Live the rest of your life in possibility

~Benjamin Zander

It is the tuning of the universe... It's as if at the beginning of the symphony God turns up the volume just a tiny bit.

~Benjamin Zander

Imagine Martin Luther King saying, 'I have a dream ... But I don't know if the others will buy it.'

~Benjamin Zander

If you make a mistake, celebrate.

~Benjamin Zander

how absurd human beings are and how magnificent.

~Benjamin Zander
