I have this ability to find this hidden talent in people that sometimes even they didn't know they had.

~Berry Gordy

Money had never been the main thing for me. It's the legacy that was important.

~Berry Gordy

Motown was about music for all people - white and black, blue and green, cops and the robbers. I was reluctant to have our music alienate anyone.

~Berry Gordy

There aren't enough people who care about the future. They are too busy worrying about today and what they can grab now

~Berry Gordy

Michael Jackson was not an artist who comes along once in a decade, a generation, or a lifetime. He was an artist who comes along only once, period! He raised the bar and then BROKE the bar!

~Berry Gordy

I didn't want to be a big record mogul and all that stuff. I just wanted to write songs and make people laugh.

~Berry Gordy

The whole purpose of writing a book is to be understood - if other people write about you, they try to guess why you did things, or they hear things from other people.

~Berry Gordy

I'm a songwriter, that's what I love.

~Berry Gordy

All artists have runners, people that tell them what to do, business managers, lawyers, these - if they get the right ones, they're lucky, and if they get the wrong ones, they're unlucky.

~Berry Gordy

Today's business climate is not for me.

~Berry Gordy
