There are eight different breeds of peacock. I have them all.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

Our policy is European and Euro-Atlantic integration. There is no substitute for NATO.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

This is my philosophy: I prefer to stay out of the public eye. I love freedom.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I may not be a politician, but I will fight to the end of my life for what I believe in.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I have money, but my most important capital is the trust of the people.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

Since the whole village was poor, we didnt realize our own poverty. I was happy.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I have always lived according to my conscience, and my past is clean.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

Any private security is a joke in a country where youre up against your own government.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I travel as much as I can and meet people.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

A small country like Georgia has little influence on conflicts that must be resolved at the global level.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

Europe and America should judge Georgia's leadership on the basis of their actions, not just their words and promises. Otherwise Saakashvili will transform Georgia into a dictatorship.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I had to choose: Either leave the country, where it's become dangerous for me, or go on the offensive.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

All the therapists would tell me was that I was the only healthy person they knew.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I won't go back on my decision. I'm not afraid of prison, but there are even worse dangers.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

A difficult regional situation doesn't justify one man's determination to hold onto power. It's clear to me that democratization is a very complicated process.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I decided to go into politics because of our Soviet-style government.

~Bidzina Ivanishvili

I would like to become the prime minister, do the job for two years, and then leave and devote myself to public work.
