As Congress continues to debate ways to address illegal immigration, we must remember the many hard-working legal immigrants that contribute so much to our nation's economy and culture.

~Bob Filner

However, don't let these statistics mislead you, gang violence is not limited to California and or big urban areas - that might have been true a while ago but it is no longer the case today.

~Bob Filner

Congress is headed in the wrong direction with this bill which removes any and all incentives from the food industry to improve their products for children.

~Bob Filner

Rosa Parks' courage, determination, and tenacity continue to be an inspiration to all those committed to non-violent protest and change nearly half a century later.

~Bob Filner

Three thousand jurisdictions across the U.S. are estimated to have had gang activity in 2001. In 2002, 32% of cities with a population of 25 to 50 thousand reported a gang-related homicide.

~Bob Filner

Unfortunately, my district like many others across the country has a problem with gangs, which is why I introduced this amendment

~Bob Filner

Studies indicate that these children are more susceptible to advertising and even less likely to understand the purpose of this advertising.

~Bob Filner

If the President really wanted to know exactly how Rove and Libby were involved, he could walk down to their offices and demand that they answer him honestly.

~Bob Filner

With more than 1,300 sites of care, VA operates the largest integrated health care system in the county

~Bob Filner

I'm a Congressman, and can do whatever I want

~Bob Filner

I've never been a passive person. I've always felt that, if you think something should be changed, it's your responsibility to actively pursue that change.
