What I like best about music is when time goes away.

~Bob Weir

More fun than a frog in a glass of milk.

~Bob Weir

Bicycles are almost as good as guitars for meeting girls.

~Bob Weir

What if all tomorrow brings is ashes and glass, and I can't tell you child, 'this too shall pass.' If all the world were windswept, cold and gray. And in the end there's nothing left to say.

~Bob Weir

The same song on a different day was a different song.

~Bob Weir

I don't get the stuff that I carry around in my head from TV, and especially I don't get the stuff that I carry around in my heart from TV.

~Bob Weir

Dynamic benign neglect.

~Bob Weir

We're just inviting adventure into our life, and adventure carries a little baggage.

~Bob Weir

I think if people value democracy, they had damn well better get out and exercise their right to vote while their vote still means something.

~Bob Weir

If for instance, in a board meeting, if you have an idea, it better be a good idea, or you're not going to get everybody's attention.

~Bob Weir

I think it's real important that people understand where the music comes from. If you can see where the music comes from, you can also see the future. It gives you a trajectory.

~Bob Weir

Grace isn't enough. You've got to intend to be there when it's happening.

~Bob Weir

We wanted to establish a new fan base over here. And second, we wanted to challenge ourselves. We wanted to bring what is ostensibly new music to fresh ears and see what lights them up.

~Bob Weir

The meetings can be a lot of fun or they can be frustrating.

~Bob Weir

We have a society that's trying to make sure that nobody gets any adventures because adventures are dangerous and danger is bad.

~Bob Weir

Everybody has something to bring to the table.

~Bob Weir

The roughest part for me when I'm writing a song is staring at a blank page. Where am I going from here? If you're a songwriter, you have to do that every time you start a song.

~Bob Weir

We have cultural depth. We get all kinds of stuff to chew on, to live on.

~Bob Weir

Certain kinds of people just can't live life taking risks with adventure.

~Bob Weir

Sometimes the magic works and sometimes it doesn't.

~Bob Weir

Our lives are interesting.

~Bob Weir

Your parents were always trying to get you to be careful when you were a kid, and that's all pervasive in this society.

~Bob Weir

The bulk of my input comes from my peers.

~Bob Weir

That's right! The women are smarter!

~Bob Weir

Slowly you become your own man.

~Bob Weir

The rule is not written anywhere, it's not etched in anyâ€š - â€šbut, I mean, that's the prevailing attitude of this entire society. Don't have an adventure.

~Bob Weir

I have not made many conscious efforts to "re-imagine" songs. I just let them happen the way they're going to happen.

~Bob Weir

The pervasive attitude is that it's crazy to invite more danger into your life.
