The mark of a mature programmer is willingness to throw out code you spent time on when you realize it's pointless

~Bram Cohen

The trick is to fix the problem you have, rather than the problem you want.

~Bram Cohen

Things which any idiot could write usually have the quality of having been written by an idiot.

~Bram Cohen

When you're a connoisseur you look for interesting rather than good.

~Bram Cohen

I can come off as pretty arrogant, but it's because I know I'm right.

~Bram Cohen

It's always hard to predict what's coming up next. My main guess is that content creators will increasingly start using BitTorrent to distribute their own work directly.

~Bram Cohen

A good way to have good ideas is by being unoriginal.

~Bram Cohen

With BitTorrent, the cat's out of the bag.

~Bram Cohen

You get so tired of having your work die. I just wanted to make something that people would actually use.

~Bram Cohen

The next release of mainline is going to have a lot of the advanced features people want, by the way.

~Bram Cohen

I've accomplished more working on my own than I ever did as part of a team.

~Bram Cohen

Give and ye shall receive.

~Bram Cohen

My favorite language for maintainability is Python. It has simple, clean syntax, object encapsulation, good library support, and optional named parameters.

~Bram Cohen

Arimaa's a better game than I thought. It follows a fairly sound approach to making the game difficult for computers.
