Football is easy, it's not success. To me success is being a world changer. Football is my platform but not my purpose.

~Brandon Marshall

There's more than just racism. There's ageism and sexism as well.

~Brandon Marshall

It's one thing to see yourself going across the ticker…But to take someone else down, that's another. I really can't even explain that pain.

~Brandon Marshall

I appreciate America for all the opportunities it's afforded me.

~Brandon Marshall

I wouldn't change any of my reactions.

~Brandon Marshall

I'm against discrimination in all forms.

~Brandon Marshall

Some people don't want to rock the boat and risk being cut. They don't want to be seen as a nuisance. They say, "If I'm cut, I won't be able to make a change at all."

~Brandon Marshall

I think caring more about flags than people is an issue. I'd like to see that change.

~Brandon Marshall

I call him Alshon. He calls me Demaryius Thomas.

~Brandon Marshall

I know there are officers who do good. There are a whole lot.

~Brandon Marshall

This is going to be an old fashioned Baptist camp meeting with old fashioned singing, preaching and testifying.

~Brandon Marshall

My mother and I are big domestic violence advocates.

~Brandon Marshall

But if it comes down to next year, I'll be picketing outside of Halas Hall for a new deal, a new contract, because I'm not going anyplace.

~Brandon Marshall

Love your neighbor as yourself. That's what we need to adopt to be a better country.

~Brandon Marshall

What I'm finding out now is that people care more about a flag than about their fellow man. That's killing me.

~Brandon Marshall

I understand that you're supposed to protect a fellow officer, but when injustice is happening, it's on them to speak up as well.

~Brandon Marshall

If I wasn't playing football, I'd be a juvenile probation officer.

~Brandon Marshall

Maybe the standards should be higher to be an officer. People will say there area high standards, but clearly they're not high enough.

~Brandon Marshall

I try to live by the principles the Bible speaks on.
