Surveys have shown going back as far as you and I can remember that people have perceived a leftward tilt in the basic coverage that they get on TV news.

~Brit Hume

Insure the uninsured. Effect of Obamacare to date: Uninsure the insured.

~Brit Hume

Fairness is not an attitude. It's a professional skill that must be developed and exercised.

~Brit Hume

In the end, you make your reputation and you have your success based upon credibility and being able to provide people who are really hungry for information what they want.

~Brit Hume

The Clinton administration hated us, and it was a terrible struggle with them. I think that they felt if they didn't play, they could strangle us in our crib.

~Brit Hume

The month of January, we were number one. Now, this is something we're proud of, because we recognize we're up against a formidable operation there at CNN.

~Brit Hume

Our emphasis on political coverage from the day we were born here was well-founded, and we believe there were opportunities there that we could do it in a more interesting, appealing and balanced way.

~Brit Hume

There's a certain elitism that has crept into the attitudes of some in journalism, and it played out perfectly over the issue of these little [American flag] lapel pins.

~Brit Hume

People realized that they could come on Fox News Sunday, and they would be well and fairly treated.

~Brit Hume

In America today, if your sensibilities are offended by something that has happened, you get an enormous amount of credibility and are taken very seriously.

~Brit Hume

I don't think very many people would accuse Paula Zahn of being a conservative.

~Brit Hume

CNN is a more diverse brand. It's spread out over more products over there.

~Brit Hume

We get a ton of email; everybody does now. It gives us a kind of a pulse that you can feel. What we hear people saying is thank you for being fair; thank you for being balanced.

~Brit Hume

What played to what had been a relative weakness for us-this was exploding overseas as well, and we had to scramble to mount some reach and get into places and be competitive on the ground.

~Brit Hume

My sense about Greta is that people ought to wait and see and see if she doesn't indeed turn out to be as balanced as we hope and expect she will. But there you are.

~Brit Hume

This is a tough environment, and it's tough for everybody.

~Brit Hume

We've had a chance to be seen by viewers who had never seen us before, and we've kept a lot of them.

~Brit Hume

It's perfectly possible for somebody to make the transition from politics to journalism.

~Brit Hume

It's a battle to be seen in the world of advertisers and in the world of business as a serious force.

~Brit Hume

It's not unilateral when it's 16 to 3! Can't you count?

~Brit Hume

How can we be isolating ourselves when it's 16 to 3 in NATO for what we want to do?

~Brit Hume

We had more viewers on the broadcast network than we did on the cable channel.

~Brit Hume

There have been two Geraldo Riveras through his long career. One of them was a reporter who has done some remarkable work. The other was a television show host who did what it took to get an audience.

~Brit Hume

Some in journalism consider themselves apart from and to some extent above the people they purport to serve.

~Brit Hume

Winners take responsibility, losers blame others.

~Brit Hume

We need more foreign reach; no question about that. And we're working on getting that. We need more people abroad; we need some more bureaus... That is really an important job.

~Brit Hume

I think that what people want from cable news channels is the sense that if there's hard news, it's going to come up immediately.

~Brit Hume

I suspect people channel-surf, as they tend to everywhere. But I'm told that we're not much on at the State Department, so we'll have to look into that.

~Brit Hume

I think we're giving people something new that people didn't know was out there before.
