Most of the time, the creative part is like playing in a sandbox. I can sit here and work for 12 hours and not get tired of it.

~Britta Phillips

The way I work is mostly unconscious and instinctive.

~Britta Phillips

Before I moved to Brooklyn to pursue music, I was a high school dropout and speed freak who'd been living with her dealer boyfriend in Bucks County, Pennsylvania at 16.

~Britta Phillips

I think I am a late-bloomer. My taste in music just keeps getting better.

~Britta Phillips

It is a good thing to let someone else's vision take over, and it has always been a good thing in the end.

~Britta Phillips

After being in the creative, hermetic state I have been in, coming out has been painful, but it is getting easier.

~Britta Phillips

I think that it's always more interesting to combine familiar sounds together in a new way and with newer sounds if you can make it work, rather than sticking to just one style too strictly.

~Britta Phillips

I love the feeling of nostalgia vying with the present. That can be from song to song, or within the same song.

~Britta Phillips

You always want an album to sound like its own little planet.

~Britta Phillips

When I moved to New York in my 20s, I didn't have an obnoxious ego, but it was huge! I'll thought, "I'll never die and I can do anything."

~Britta Phillips

The hard part was when I went into the studio with co-producer Eric Broucek, and he started slashing my demos. I always sweat that.

~Britta Phillips

Negative feelings can either lead to sinking into oneself and disappearing, or they can make you angry and want to prove that you're worthy to be in the conversation.

~Britta Phillips

Certain people have the eye of the tiger, and I never was myself that kind of person, although I'm not a slacker.

~Britta Phillips

I just love music, so that's what I'm always working on, and I try to say yes a lot. Maybe I'm more ambitious than I thought I was.

~Britta Phillips

It was definitely in my mind to do a solo album, but I didn't know it would take this long.

~Britta Phillips

I tend to work on a song, generate ideas, and re-arrange it like five times, and I'm glad I take the time to do that, because I think my original songs come out better.

~Britta Phillips

I went through a furnace and came out knowing who I am.

~Britta Phillips

I was pretty tough and serious in my 20s.
