Having the choice at the end of my life has become incredibly important. It has given me a sense of peace during a time that otherwise would be dominated by fear, uncertainty and pain.

~Brittany Maynard

There is a difference between a person who is dying and a person who is suicidal. I do not want to die. I am dying.

~Brittany Maynard

Americans around the country who came forward to make my 'bucket list' dream come true.

~Brittany Maynard

To have control of my own mind... to go with dignity is less terrifying. When I look at both options I have to die, I feel this is far more humane.

~Brittany Maynard

The reason to consider life and what's of value is to make sure you're not missing out. Seize the day. What's important to you? What do you care about? What matters? Pursue that. Forget the rest.

~Brittany Maynard

I believe this choice is ethical, and what makes it ethical is it is a choice.

~Brittany Maynard

I'm choosing to suffer less. To put myself and my family through less pain.

~Brittany Maynard

Spread good energy. Pay it forward!

~Brittany Maynard

I won't live to see the death-with-dignity movement reach critical mass, but I call on you to carry it forward.

~Brittany Maynard

If you ever find yourself walking a mile in my shoes, I hope that you would be at least be given the same choice.

~Brittany Maynard

It is people who pause to appreciate life and give thanks who are happiest. If we change our thoughts, we change our world! Love and peace to you all.

~Brittany Maynard

I want to die on my own terms.

~Brittany Maynard

We all just realized that I am terminally ill and I'm dying and I would just prefer to die with less pain and less suffering.

~Brittany Maynard

Who has the right to tell me that I don't deserve this choice?

~Brittany Maynard

I hope to enjoy however many days I have on this beautiful Earth and spend as much of it outside as I can surrounded by those I love.

~Brittany Maynard

Right when I was I was diagnosed my husband and I were actively trying for a family, which is heartbreaking for us both.

~Brittany Maynard

The thoughts that go through your mind when you find out you have so little time is everything that you need to say to everyone that you love.

~Brittany Maynard

I feel very fortunate to go surrounded by love. I'm proud of the life I lived.

~Brittany Maynard

I feel lucky... I have tremendous support so I've never felt alone.
