When life gives you lemons, throw them at the zombies.

~Bruce Campbell

People who sleep around to get roles are frail and scared and most likely without talent. It's their own little horror show that only they can deal with.

~Bruce Campbell

Good, bad, I'm the guy with the gun

~Bruce Campbell

All men think they're fascinating. In my case, it's justified.

~Bruce Campbell

For a long time I was embarrassed to say I was a 'B' movie actor, ... But now that I see what Hollywood's putting out, I realized 'B' actually means 'better.'

~Bruce Campbell

We make our own problems every time. Everything that we complain about is something we can solve.

~Bruce Campbell

If I had all the money in the world, I'd still make movies. But I'd want them to pay me in donuts.

~Bruce Campbell

Every word out of my mouth is a word that I've approved.

~Bruce Campbell

Once you look past the hype, actors are nothing more than fugitives from reality who specialize in contradiction: we are both children and hardened adults—wide-eyed pupils and jaded working stiffs.

~Bruce Campbell

Actors who say they can dive inside a character are either schizophrenic or lying.

~Bruce Campbell

I see parody as another form of comedy.

~Bruce Campbell

Sometimes you fail your chemistry test and other times it's explosive.

~Bruce Campbell

A cult classic is one that has been fully embraced by an alternative audience, not the popular audience.

~Bruce Campbell

I don't say any word that I don't approve.

~Bruce Campbell

Genres pop up and get hot and then they die down.

~Bruce Campbell

If you ain't got socks, you ain't got much. But if you got 'em, you might as well pull 'em up. It's a statement of self-sufficiency. We should all be more self-governed.

~Bruce Campbell

There are MAYBE 30 years worth of ideas out there... watch for the feature version of ER in about 25 years... Hollywood has become hopelessly chained to the bottom line.

~Bruce Campbell

Actors are always going to have a little bit of themselves in everything.

~Bruce Campbell

Such is an actor's life. We must ride the waves of every film, barfing occasionally, yet maintain our dignity, even as the bulk of our Herculean efforts are keel-hauled before our very eyes.

~Bruce Campbell

There is a large element of me in every role I do.

~Bruce Campbell

As far as my favorite sites, I do a lot of mundane stuff on line because I travel so much.

~Bruce Campbell

You have to have horror that is entertaining, where you can laugh. Most people don't want you to laugh at horror. They just want you to just be disgusted and terrified.

~Bruce Campbell

It's very gratifying that someone likes what you're selling.

~Bruce Campbell

I've managed to make a living in a very ridiculous business, and that's fine with me. The trick now is, after you've been in it for a while, you still have to remember to have fun.

~Bruce Campbell

You're not looking for the Rolls Royce and the big fancy trailer. Those are supposed to be the byproducts of having fun and then getting good at what you do.

~Bruce Campbell

Horror I appreciate is one of the few genres that can wind the audience up and make them pay attention. I kind of like that. It's one of the few genres that can be very manipulative.

~Bruce Campbell

I think the Internet is the single greatest revolution to come around in a long time. It's so convenient, it's frightening. I can definitely see why some people don't leave their house anymore.

~Bruce Campbell

I think having simplicity doesn't always mean that you make a good movie. I have a theory that a movie that's easy to make is hard to watch.

~Bruce Campbell

I like the TV format. I like how fast it is.

~Bruce Campbell

Any time a writer thinks he has all the answers to how someone should talk or react or end a scene, it's a spontaneity-killer.

~Bruce Campbell

I don't care about the genre so much. I'm good with horror, but I like other genres, too.

~Bruce Campbell

It's smart to have a set of younger actors. People don't always want to look at me. They want to look at other people.

~Bruce Campbell

I'm not interested in making a $60-million studio film with a bunch of 24-year-olds telling me what to do.

~Bruce Campbell

You couldn't make a cheap drama. That would be too low-budget. Drama has to have good photography and well-known actors.

~Bruce Campbell

I see the Internet as the next big deal - I wanted to get in on it early on so I wouldn't get behind it all.

~Bruce Campbell

Westerns pop up every so often, everybody does a western and then they all die.

~Bruce Campbell

If you have script problems and you don't fix them by the time you shoot, your script problems are now 40 feet tall.

~Bruce Campbell

I'll do more than the average actor, but I'm smart enough to know why stunt guys exist.

~Bruce Campbell

Digital blood is not effective.

~Bruce Campbell

You can't get a movie made without a script; it's the blueprint to your building.

~Bruce Campbell

If you go to Hollywood, you've already sold out.

~Bruce Campbell

We've all made bad decisions, but they haven't always been resulting in the deaths of innocent people.

~Bruce Campbell

Everybody's got brain matter in their hair, and somehow that makes it a very happy workplace.

~Bruce Campbell

It'll die down like every other genre, but horror has always been one of the four or five main genres that will never go away.

~Bruce Campbell

'Evil Dead 1' was never supposed to have a sequel.

~Bruce Campbell

You'll lose about two million brain cells every minute that goes by.

~Bruce Campbell

My father was in the ad business, and he wanted to be a painter.

~Bruce Campbell

You have to take the horror seriously but there's gags aplenty. Most people, when they do horror it's just grim.

~Bruce Campbell

I've always enjoyed playing a little left of center characters. Otherwise I'd be on a soap opera.
