I am cursed with computers; something always goes wrong.

~Carla Bruni

I must represent France, and I want to be elegant, and I want the French people to be proud of me.

~Carla Bruni

I'm not really a femme fatale.

~Carla Bruni

Love lasts a long time but burning desire lasts two to three weeks.

~Carla Bruni

It's always astounded me to have succeeded at having kids. It's crazy!

~Carla Bruni

I'm monogamous from time to time, but I prefer polygamy and polyandry.

~Carla Bruni

I only judge people in one way. I like them or I don't. But I don't have preconceived ideas.

~Carla Bruni

I want a man with nuclear power.

~Carla Bruni

I like peace and solitude and silence.

~Carla Bruni

I can no longer seduce because I love my husband. I don't want to hurt him. I am no longer a man-eater.

~Carla Bruni

I care about writing music and playing my music.

~Carla Bruni

I thought marriage was something very quiet and very regular and very bourgeois.

~Carla Bruni

I never think about what people are going think about me.

~Carla Bruni

Everyone needs acknowledgement. When we're kids, we need it from our parents. If you don't get love from your family, you're destroyed inside.

~Carla Bruni

But I'm very careful with opinions because I never know what the truth is. When I read what the press says about me, I don't really believe what it says about other people.

~Carla Bruni

I'm not at all an active feminist. On the contrary, I'm a bourgeois. I love family life, I love doing the same thing every day.

~Carla Bruni

Marriage is another trap. If you are someone who likes independence, it's another stamp against that. And you have to swear to fidelity.

~Carla Bruni

My dream life is just to go back to my job full-time. And be with my family. You know, regular dreams, common dreams that everyone has.

~Carla Bruni

I've ended up becoming my mother in some respects, despite my eight years of analysis!

~Carla Bruni

It would never occur to me to judge anyone.

~Carla Bruni

In reality, I don't see myself as a man hunter. In fact, when it comes to love, I am rarely the one to make the first move.

~Carla Bruni

My mother was a classical pianist and my stepfather was an industrialist who was passionate about composing contemporary music.

~Carla Bruni

I'm crazy about Israel. It's full of life.

~Carla Bruni

I find that talking about myself is often the most boring thing in the world. Sixty per cent of interviews I find mechanical.

~Carla Bruni

~Carla Bruni

We don't need to be feminist in my generation.

~Carla Bruni

When I met Eric Clapton, I was a very young girl. I was 20 years old. And we were linked for a very short time, and then we became friends. And then we lost touch, which I'm really sorry about.

~Carla Bruni

To me, the most poetic and intelligent way to bring up a subject is by showing very simply who you are and what you believe in.

~Carla Bruni

Feminism is just like HIV awareness: It's not something we don't need anymore, it's something that is just as important as it was a few decades ago. It is a very important fight.
