I decided to write short stories because they got rejected quicker.

~Caroline B. Cooney

Breakfast was only worth having when somebody else made it for you.

~Caroline B. Cooney

People think they own time. They have watches and clocks and digital pulses. But they are wrong. Time owns them.

~Caroline B. Cooney

People nearly always believe, and are willing to back it up with weapons and cruelty, that their religion and way of life is better than the other person's

~Caroline B. Cooney

I approach serious subjects, and I like to have the good guys win and have the parents among the good guys

~Caroline B. Cooney

My favorite book is always the one I'm working on at the moment

~Caroline B. Cooney

If you write a story based on a real person, you're trapped by the details of the real person and his life. It gets in the way of writing your own story.

~Caroline B. Cooney

I love writing and do not know why it is considered such a difficult, agonizing profession.

~Caroline B. Cooney

Actually my first eight books were historical novels, but they were never published

~Caroline B. Cooney

I wrote eight full-length adult novels in my twenties. None of them were published in Los Angeles ... was the thinking-est crowd on earth: how to get ahead, how to mold a better body, how to have a better relationship, how to score, earn, fight, win, get published, be a star.

~Caroline B. Cooney

~Caroline B. Cooney

Lying on the front passenger seat, as if it didn't matter, was Rose's Diary. It Mattered.

~Caroline B. Cooney

When in doubt, shut up.

~Caroline B. Cooney

She had gradually changed her name. "Jane" was too dull. Last year, she'd added a "y", becoming Jayne, which had more personality.

~Caroline B. Cooney

I believe my voice is pretty much the same. I've written 75 books, so I'm better at it now than I was earlier in my career

~Caroline B. Cooney

But I found my family. I found the right thing to do. I found the way home.

~Caroline B. Cooney

But sometimes, in tight corners, when your back is against the wall and the world is against you, you have to fight back in unexpected ways.

~Caroline B. Cooney

What more can life hold, than to know that because of your story, somebody out there has decided to read again!

~Caroline B. Cooney

I'm one of the lucky writers: plots come easily to me

~Caroline B. Cooney

I believe my readers are crazy about their parents and want to be just like them when they grow up

~Caroline B. Cooney

Guys with nice person names try to be sympathetic.
