No one goes to BrooklynVegan to read about content, they just go for drama. It's a tabloid, the scum of indie.

~Caroline Polachek

I was really inspired by this feeling of mania, a caricature of myself that I look down upon and see negatively.

~Caroline Polachek

Success will come. Or it won't. But I think you can only make a go at it in a big way by fully being yourself and taking risks. People can feel risks.

~Caroline Polachek

Don't say yes to everything. Learn how to say no, because people respect a no.

~Caroline Polachek

Do not be precious about your music within your own world. Try everything you want to try; just because it exists doesn't mean it's done.

~Caroline Polachek

I'm gonna really enjoy bringing out the catsuit once in a while.

~Caroline Polachek

The only thing that deeply frustrates me is the slow speed [of major labels]. The more people involved, the slower the pace.

~Caroline Polachek

You'd have to be kind of a bonehead not to feel pressure.

~Caroline Polachek

It's a lot different being a hip-hop artist. You just show up with a piece of paper with your words on it, say it in the mic, then you leave and some other guy does all the music.

~Caroline Polachek

Everyone in our generation lives in a world where you're surrounded by all sorts of music all the time. People's tastes are made of combinations of genres.

~Caroline Polachek

I saw this wide-eyed girl with big ears and a pink nose who's too excited. I wanted that part of myself to sing lead.

~Caroline Polachek

There's this corporate machine giving us a chance to access radio - though there's no guarantee.

~Caroline Polachek

Playing to bigger audiences at festivals got me in the mindset of writing music that I would sing to a crowd.

~Caroline Polachek

Brooklyn is a hub; people move to Brooklyn because of what's already in Brooklyn.
