Saturn is the most photogenic planet in the solar system.

~Carolyn Porco

Being a scientist and staring immensity and eternity in the face every day is as grand and inspiring as it gets.

~Carolyn Porco

We humans, though troubled and warlike, are also the dreams, thinkers, and explorers inhabiting one aching beautiful planet, yearning for the sublime, and capable of the magnificent.

~Carolyn Porco

The same spiritual fulfillment that people find in religion can be found in science by coming to know, if you will, the mind of God.

~Carolyn Porco

There is a powerful recognition that stirs within us when we see our little blue ocean planet in the skies of other worlds. In an instant we can see how small, fragile, and alone we all really are.

~Carolyn Porco

The quest for the truth, in and of itself, is a story that's filled with insights.

~Carolyn Porco

Nothing will ever be what the Voyager mission was.

~Carolyn Porco

Remember, Voyager was just a flyby, Cassini is in orbit. We have the opportunity for monitoring them and their behavior, their comings and goings, how they evolve, when they appear and disappear.

~Carolyn Porco

For planetary explorers like us, there is little that can compare to the sighting of activity on another solar system body. This has been a heart-stopper, and surely one of our most thrilling results.

~Carolyn Porco

Spokes are one of those Saturn-system phenomena that we are keenly interested in understanding.

~Carolyn Porco

We have at last glimpsed the surface of the fabled world, Titan, Saturn's largest moon and the greatest single expanse of unexplored territory remaining in the Solar System today.
