For me, the biggest thing is someone who's kind. I'm not into the bad-boy thing.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

After 'The Matrix,' I cannot wear sunglasses. As soon as I put them on, people recognize me.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

Nobody sets the rules but you. You can design your own life.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

My husband jokes that I'll invite people over for dinner and he won't know who they are or where I met them. But in my work world, I've never really been tempted to tell too much of my story.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

Are you gonna fuel your faith or fuel your fear? I'm all about fueling my faith, especially when it's hard to do so.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

I'm such a private person, and sexuality is such a private thing. A sex scene is much harder than a fight scene. It's one thing to say, 'Kick higher,' but 'Kiss harder' - that's just crazy.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

Where it gets clear for me about the privacy issue is with my kids because they didn't choose this kind of life. I'm an incredibly open person, though - I'll tell anyone anything.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

I was 30 when I did 'The Matrix.' When you turn 30, your life and your world view change. I remember feeling relieved - it was like I was seeing things in a deeper way.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

To experience life you have to kind of face a lot of fears.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

The writers are so smart, I can only imagine. I would love to be in that room. I love the creative process.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

I'm a very simple person. I don't use computers.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

I don't believe in being typecast. If I believed it, it probably would have happened to me. You attract what you make.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

When I did the first 'Matrix,' after it came out, I had a woman come up to me and just thank me for Trinity because she was an action writer. She said she was getting really good opportunities now.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

Eventually I want to be a full-time mother who works occasionally - and being an actor you have that freedom.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

I definitely acknowledge that The Matrix and Trinity had an influence on female action-oriented characters in television and in film. I think it's awesome.

~Carrie-Anne Moss

I just can't stand the sound of my voice sometimes, or how my face looks. There are always a few times at every premiere when I just have to cover my eyes when I'm up there.
