I just think about how saying that you love someone can make your heart feel like some sort of brownie sundae, warm, gooey, sweet and good.

~Carrie Jones

We all live with our losses. We don't want to, but we can

~Carrie Jones

You know, life fractures us all into little pieces. It harms us, but it's how we glue those fractures back together that make us stronger.

~Carrie Jones

I like a lot of things that aren't good for me.

~Carrie Jones

The ending has to fit. The ending has to matter, and make sense. I could care less about whether it's happy or sad or atomic. The ending is the place where you go, "Aha. Of course. That's right."

~Carrie Jones

It's hard to save the world when you can't save yourself

~Carrie Jones

Loving you is a full-time job. It's a great job, don't get me wrong. It's the best job in the universe. But it's not easy.

~Carrie Jones

What feels best is how I no longer hurt.

~Carrie Jones

Is everyone as wrong about me as I am about them?

~Carrie Jones

What we do, our choices, that's what defines us

~Carrie Jones

Losing people you love affects you. It is buried inside of you and becomes this big, deep hole of ache. It doesn't magically go away, even when you stop officially mourning.

~Carrie Jones

It is love which made all this. War which protects it. With love comes responsibility and possibility, fear and hopes, quests and suffering.

~Carrie Jones

Emotions are real, just not the reasons behind them.

~Carrie Jones

I'm not a damsel and there is no distress

~Carrie Jones

We all have to feel empty sometimes.

~Carrie Jones

There is no easy off button for your brain. It would be really really nice if there were.

~Carrie Jones

I am not 'most' and I am not 'people'.

~Carrie Jones

Friends help friends fight pixies.

~Carrie Jones

I used to be embarrassed by my mom, but now I know what she is-she's a hero.

~Carrie Jones

Why are there no names for the absence of things? Why is there no name for the absence of humanity?

~Carrie Jones

It's a lot easier to understand things once you name them. It's the unknown that mostly freaks me out. I don't know the name of that fear, but I know I've got it, the fear of the unknown.

~Carrie Jones

Sometimes that whys aren't knowable, so you just have to ignore the whys, and just focus on what is and move on.

~Carrie Jones

A cheerleader? Do I look like a guy who'd be interested in talking to a cheerleader?
