You don't have to be perfect to be pretty.

~Carson Kressley

I was into Barbie and designer jeans.

~Carson Kressley

I've always believed that clothing is a great way to tell your story.

~Carson Kressley

It's really important to share the idea that being different might feel like a problem at the time, but ultimately diversity is a strength.

~Carson Kressley

People are much deeper than stereotypes. That's the first place our minds go. Then you get to know them and you hear their stories, and you say, 'I'd have never guessed.'

~Carson Kressley

Compare yourself to yourself and say, 'How can I be better? How can I be the real me?'

~Carson Kressley

I wasn't always this confident. Growing up as the awkward gay kid in a small town in Pennsylvania, you're constantly told, 'Don't be yourself, don't be proud of who you are.'

~Carson Kressley

Whether you're gay or straight, with a physical disability, your skin's a different color, it's absurd in this age to not be aware and be concerned of the inequity in rights.

~Carson Kressley

Boxers are hot, and by boxers I mean guys who box, not the underwear. So get rid of 'em!

~Carson Kressley

Challenge yourself, jump off the deep end and learn to swim.

~Carson Kressley

I am not much about rules, I like to break 'em and don't like to make 'em.

~Carson Kressley

My method of helping someone is saying, 'Wow, you look amazing. Let me help you look even better.' I think tearing someone down is an awful thing to do. It has a lasting impression on people.

~Carson Kressley

It's incredibly hard to program a network from scratch for 24 hours.

~Carson Kressley

I love fashion, but it's always been my job, whereas horseriding is my hobby.

~Carson Kressley

We came, we saw, we bedazzled! You know, and it's hard to be serious and thoughtful when you're dressed like a Skittle.

~Carson Kressley

On our show, I've only reached out and touched about 55 guys. I think there's still about 40 million.

~Carson Kressley

I learned how to dance. I got a free spray tan. My life is good!

~Carson Kressley

I hoped I could make people smile and laugh and have a good time.

~Carson Kressley

Humour ended up being a really useful skill when it came time to be an international television celebrity.

~Carson Kressley

I love music. I love going out dancing.

~Carson Kressley

I've been doing makeovers on TV for years and years and years. It's something I really know how to do. I also know personally what it's like to not feel good about yourself.

~Carson Kressley

Show's going well. New season starting, we're on the road.

~Carson Kressley

I think ultimately I make people happy: Whether I'm doing the stage show, giving somebody a makeover, or designing clothing, the end goal is to make people smile.
