Walls have ears. Doors have eyes. Trees have voices. Beasts tell lies. Beware the rain. Beware the snow. Beware the man You think you know. -Songs of Sapphique

~Catherine Fisher

He had wanted so hard to Escape, to find the stars. And all he had found was a new prison.

~Catherine Fisher

Only the man who has known freedom Can define his prison.

~Catherine Fisher

He was her enemy, and she hated him because she could not hate him enough.

~Catherine Fisher

None of us have much idea where we are. Perhaps all our lives are too concerned with where, and not enough with who.

~Catherine Fisher

Freedom is a small price to pay for survival.

~Catherine Fisher

He worked night and day. He made a coat that would transform him; he would be more than a man; a winged creature, beautiful as light. All the birds brought him feathers. Even the eagle. Even the swan.

~Catherine Fisher

And what would they be scared of? There's nothing to fear in a perfect world, is there?

~Catherine Fisher

Chloe turned to Vetch. The poet said gently, "You see, you do have power. Words give you power, to create or destroy." His eyes flickered to Clare. "Even to forgive.

~Catherine Fisher

All my life I have dreamed of you.

~Catherine Fisher

Because I have dreams and in those dreams I see the stars

~Catherine Fisher

All my years to this moment All my roads to this wall. All my words to this silence All my pride to this fall. -Songs of Sapphique

~Catherine Fisher

I trust you, Jared," she whispered. "I always did. I love you, Master.

~Catherine Fisher

Finn smiled ruefully. "I'm a Prisoner, old man. Just like you.

~Catherine Fisher

Underground, the stars are legend.

~Catherine Fisher

Shadow turned. Her eyes were wet; she smiled at him wanley. "I'll be she loved you.

~Catherine Fisher

I hate her." Merlin laughed, tossing the stick down. "Not so. You have forgotten how to love. That's a different sorrow.

~Catherine Fisher

It's safe to tell a secret to one, Risky to tell it to two. To tell it to three is thoughtless folly, Everyone else will know.

~Catherine Fisher

I always was going to be a writer. The other jobs were just to keep me in food. Though I enjoyed the archaeology.

~Catherine Fisher

If it means my death, I don't care, because even death will be a sort of freedom.

~Catherine Fisher

Nothing has changed, or will change. So we must change it.

~Catherine Fisher

Even across the dark, even across the loss, even across the emptiness, soul will speak to soul

~Catherine Fisher

I have walked a stair of swords, I have worn a coat of scars. I have vowed with hollow words, I have lied my way to the stars -Songs of Sapphique

~Catherine Fisher

Despair is deep. An abyss that swallows dreams. A wall at the world's end. Behind it I await death. Because all our work has come to this.
