I lead a very boring life.

~Catherine McCormack

Sunday evenings often feel like the weekend is over before it's even begun.

~Catherine McCormack

I listen to Radio 4 and put the iPod on shuffle. I like the randomness of, say, the Stones, then something from Nina Simone, Nick Drake or Bob Dylan.

~Catherine McCormack

It's funny, I listen to friends who talk about back when they were 14, eight, 16, whatever, as if it was yesterday. Me, I've no idea what I did. It's all a blur, I'm afraid.

~Catherine McCormack

I'm so glad this is the last day of these thing, I get so tired of listening to my own voice.

~Catherine McCormack

Actors are accustomed to doing exactly what the director or writer requests us to do, and rarely get involved in that part of the process.

~Catherine McCormack

Britain is producing some of the worst films in the world. Our film industry is desperate to be part of America, and we just churn out flaccid imitations of bad films over there.

~Catherine McCormack

Occasionally I go shopping for clothes, but I find the whole thing a real chore.

~Catherine McCormack

Left to my own devices I'd get up at midday every day of my life.

~Catherine McCormack

I happen to have worked with male directors who don't understand women at all. Not at all. I'm flabbergasted by their ignorance.

~Catherine McCormack

What's it like to kiss Mel Gibson?

~Catherine McCormack

I have so many themes I want to explore, so many questions I'd like to raise and develop, and hopefully, I'll get to do just that.

~Catherine McCormack

I can't sit around doing nothing. If I'm not working, I have a habit of becoming rather insular.

~Catherine McCormack

The events with Henry III happened, obviously the way it happened, liberties were taken.

~Catherine McCormack

In my entire career? I am so sick of being asked, What's it like to kiss Mel Gibson?

~Catherine McCormack
